It must be the work of Eclipso...

Here at Black Cat Comics in rockin' Milpitas we know you can't have Science Fiction without Science, and we've been known to enjoy a heapin' helpin' of both! This week's centennially spectacular solar eclipse reminds us that despite the downfall of Western Civilization, Science is alive and well and will continue to exist whether we're here to enjoy it or not. The eclipse also puts many life lessons into their proper perspective. It's important to remember that even when it goes dark in the middle of the day, the Sun is still there, shiny as always. It's nice to know that every once in a while, all things are in alignment. It's fun to see so many people participating in something that no one is opposed to. It's great to have a nationwide event that gathers people together outside in the somewhat fresh air. In the crazy times we live in, it's important to remember that the Universe is bigger than we are, and that we're all traveling through it on the same ship. If we didn't rock the boat so much, the trip would be a whole lot smoother. The eclipse brought out the sense of wonder that we all have for the world around us, and we had a great time getting together and talking about it. Let's take some of that fun and camaraderie and apply it to the other aspects of life. Let's talk more about science, and let's get out in nature and explore and learn together. With a little effort, every day can be a time of planetary alignment. We hope your vision came back after all that staring at the sun, otherwise you couldn't read any of the new Comics that we have for you this week...

Weapon X #7 picks up right after the stunning revelations of WMD! After barely escaping with their lives, it's time to get answers! Weapon X has created some of the most dangerous monsters in the Marvel Universe. Why has Weapon X reformed, and who was the volunteer crazy enough to be their first experiment? What are they planning to create and unleash next? Can Old Man Logan, Sabretooth, and Domino get to the bottom of things before more mutants die? It's a good time to check out X-Titles. Pick up Weapon X #7 and this week's X-Men gold #10 starring Omega Red! - Causey

The shields and barriers placed to keep Captain America's greatest threats out of his way have finally been torn down. Namor has revealed his secret weapon to use against Steve and the Vanishing Point Steve Roger's just ran into a very important Marvel character. Secret Empire #9 is out this week and seeing how issue #8 ended this one is going to be fantastic. This series has had me on the edge of my seat and each issue has had me wanting the next. Only one more issue remains after this one so if you haven't jumped on this series now is the time to grab the previous eight issues and number zero and see what everyone is talking about. - Anthony

Shirtless Bear Fighter got me interested with its hilarious back cover but the story hooked me. Who knew mind controlled bears would make for a good story. Last issue Shirtless went all over the country and fought every type of bear imaginable. The San Francisco bears and the Chicago bears he fought were especially hilarious. In issue #3 Shirtless is caught by the Bears. Can agent Silva rescue him from the clutches of the bears. And will one of his own betray him? Check out Shirtless Bear Fighter #3 this Wednesday to find out. - Al

Witches, demonic spells, necromancy, all await you in this week's issue of the Chilling Adventures of Sabrina #8. When last we saw Sabrina she was conjuring up a spell to bring back her love Harvey. But lo and behold, her warlock father intercedes and takes Harvey's shell as his own leaving behind a wake of horror. Sabrina still thinks her love, Harvey, has returned to her, little does she know the evil that lurks within his cold dead skin. Pick up this week's issue and don't forget to leave the lights on! Enjoy! - Francie

With our recent move we've lost all the awesome reviews we had on Yelp. Whenever a business relocates they remove the old reviews and treat it as a brand new business. Our reviews look pretty meager! We could use your help in spicing them up! Thanks in advance!
